

Presents..... Gender Norms & Black Youth
Reconnecting Race, Class AND Gender

SPECIAL SESSION: Tuesday, November 29, 2016 | 2:00 - 3:30 p.m. EST

Watch Now!

Co-sponsored by

Rigid gender norms have immense raced and classed impacts on youth of color. In fact, gender affects almost every problem funders address. Yet, while some funders are solidly grounded in racial and economic justice, few do innovative work or challenge their grantees to do so when it comes to gender. Studies clearly show that young Black men and women who internalized rigid ideals for masculinity and femininity have lower life outcomes in areas like health and education. On the flip side, those who don't conform to gender norms – who are gay or trans –face their own adverse life impacts from rigid gender expectations.

This session will help participants reconnect race, class, and gender. Participants will learn how gender norms have specific impacts on life outcomes among youth of color. Concrete examples will be provided on integrating a gender lens into "intersectional" giving. No prior knowledge necessary, but reports will be shared to provide context.

The recent, critically acclaimed movie, Moonlight, tells a powerful narrative of some Black males becoming men. It has struck a chord with many of those who have seen it. It is just one of the myriad, important stories about gender identity in communities of color that need to be told. - <http://moonlight-movie.com/>

- By the end of the session, participants will be able to:
- 1) Know and understand basic gender associated terminology
  - 2) Understand the basic concepts of gender transformative giving
  - 3) Know how gender norms impact Black and other youth of color, and how to integrate this into an intersectional approach to gender
