ABOUT ABFE
ABFE is a membership-based philanthropic organization that advocates for responsive and transformative investments in Black communities. Partnering with foundations, nonprofits and individuals, ABFE provides its members with professional development and technical assistance resources that further the philanthropic sector’s connection and responsiveness to issues of equity, diversity and inclusion. Established in 1971 as the Association of Black Foundation Executives, the organization was credited with many of philanthropy’s early gains in diversity. It since has evolved into an influential network. In 2013, the organization shed its descriptor and adopted the simpler ABFE (ab-fee) to better reflect its broadening membership. For more information, visit www.abfe.org.

ABFE PROGRAMMATIC HIGHLIGHTS
ABFE concentrates its efforts on four basic areas of programming and activity to support its members, as well as to influence the field in ways that ultimately benefit Black communities:

Advocacy
ABFE uses its position and networks in the field to share information for the express purpose of influencing policies and practices in the field that may hinder the success of Black professionals or communities.

Knowledge, Training and Technical Assistance
ABFE has developed Responsive Philanthropy in Black Communities (RPBC), a framework for grantmaking that supports the dignity of communities and optimizes inherent strengths to ensure better outcomes for Black communities. This new offering to the field provides tools and consultants to help funders employ the framework.

Networking and Convening
ABFE offers a variety of opportunities for members and other professionals in the field to exchange information and ideas, and to cultivate productive relationships that often result in learning, co-investment, and expanded social and professional opportunities and communities.

Professional and Leadership Development
Primarily focused on members’ interests, ABFE provides information and other resources that inform grantmaking strategies and support career and leadership development for Black professionals in the field.
